Colonel Faces Court Martial For Tragedy

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has ordered a colonel to face a court martial in the collapse of a radar "Texas Tower" that dragged 28 men to their death in the Atlantic Ocean.

The officer, Col. William M. Banks, has been charged with being derelict in duty by failing to keep himself informed.

Banks was in command of the Boston air defense center and the tower was part of its radar network.

The court martial was ordered Friday by the air defense commander, Lt. Gen. Robert M. Lee. The Air Force indicated the military trial may convene within a week.

Charges against two other officers—Maj. William R. Sheppard and Reginald L. Stark—were dismissed. Both had been serving under Banks. Lee also dismissed a charge against Banks of culpable negligence resulting in death. Banks is from Raleigh, W.Va.

The tower, officially known as No. 4 but unaffectionately known by its crew as "old shaky," buckled and sank in an Atlantic gale Jan. 15.

Standing on three stilt-like legs in open sea, No. 4 had been battered and weakened by hurricanes Daisy and Donna, and it was inclined to sway and vibrate like a tuning fork.

"There were times when the men lay in their bunks and practically cried because the thing swayed so," the sister of one of the lost crewmen has recalled.

The widow of another received a letter from her husband which

Hospital to Air Money Problems

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Hospital Board met today to try to decide what to do about $80,000 it spent under a bill which now has been declared unconstitutional.

Dr. Granville Jones, hospital superintendent, said the board had spent the money for laundry fixtures and furnishing for a new maximum security building before a 1959 appropriations act expired April 1.

But the bills have not been paid, and the funds were contained in the 1961 omnibus appropriations act which the state Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional in a 4-3 decision Monday.

The hospital would have gotten $1.25 million from the 1961 measure.

Money appropriated under the 1959 act cannot be spent now. A new appropriation would be required to free the funds.

Jones said the board also would discuss how to help pass a proposed $60 million construction bond issue. If the bond issue fails, the hospital stands to get about $5.5 million from surplus funds, while it would get $12 million from the bond issue.

"We need that $12 million," Jones said, "and we are going after it."

Navy Agency Deals Are Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh allegations of graft and influence deals involving employees of a Navy agency come up for scrutiny today by the Senate Investigation Subcommittee.

The group, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is exploring evidence that some civilian employees of the Military Sea Transport Service have accepted payoffs, improper loans and favors from ship repair firms with which they negotiated contracts.

MSTS operates a fleet of more than 100 ships to carry cargoes and personnel to and from military bases in many sections of the world. The inquiry centers upon its Atlantic Ocean headquarters base on the Brooklyn waterfront in New York City.

McClellan said this is to be the last in the long series of hearings. The final act, he added, probably will be to invite the Justice Department to consider whether prosecutions are justified.

The hearings have been in recess since May 17.

Cuban Property in U.S. Up for Grab

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban property in the United States was up for grabs today by Americans whose holdings in Cuba were confiscated by Fidel Castro.

Circuit Judge Hal P. Dekle Thursday ruled that any Cuban property found in this country can be attached. He found in favor of Terry Kane, who contended that the Cubans confiscated $22,500 worth of farm equipment in his tractor agency.

Dekle's ruling skirts the so-called foreign acts doctrine under which the U.S. Supreme Court since 1898 has held that the courts of one country will not judge the acts of a foreign state within that country's own territory.

Convicted Man Gets Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gordon H. Scherer, R-Ohio, says instructions from the White House have stalled an investigation of how a man convicted of contempt of Congress got a federal scholarship soon after the trial.

In a statement in today's Congressional Record, Scherer says the National Science Foundation, on the basis of orders from above, has denied the House Committee on Un-American Activities a look at the recommendations on which the award to Edward Yellin was based.

Scherer, a member of the Un-American Activities group, says Yellin, at a committee hearing in Indianapolis, in 1948, refused to answer questions concerning his part in the colonization activities of the Communist party apparatus.

Scherer said the contempt conviction, on charges growing out of Yellin's refusal to talk, came in federal court at Hammond, Ind., in 1960.

Eleven months later, on March 15, Scherer says, the scholarship was granted.

The information the committee has been denied, Scherer adds, is the recommendation to the National Science Foundation from officials of the University of Illinois where Yellin was a student at the time of the trial. He says Yellin who had a mechanical engineering degree from Colorado State University, attended Illinois under a Ford Foundation grant which was made after his refusal to answer committee questions.

Scherer relates that Yellin was suspended from the Illinois graduate school for 10 days during his contempt of Congress trial, but was reinstated by a board of professors.

He adds that a University of Illinois official justified the reinstatement by saying the conviction was "only a misdemeanor and compared it to a traffic violation." The Illinois official was not named.

"The next disclosure was the straw that broke the camel's back," the Ohioan says in referring to the grant by the National Science Foundation.

"It is astounding," he goes on, that Congress, which created the National Science Foundation and whose duty it is to make any necessary changes in the law, cannot have the files of persons who are granted taxpayers' money."

"In recent years the Communist apparatus in the United States has secretly placed highly educated, dedicated young Communists in the assembly lines of industrial plants in this country for the purpose of promoting Communist activities in labor and converting the working people to the communist cause," the statement says.

It relates that Yellin had worked as an electrician's helper in the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., without disclosing that he had an extensive education, including study at the City College of New York and the University of Michigan.

Communist "colonizers," the congressman says, when applying for factory jobs "fail to disclose their educational training and qualifications in order not to arouse the suspicion of the employers or of the man who works next to them on the assembly line whom it is their job to indoctrinate."

The Late C. A. Bridewell's Account of the Presbyterian Church, First in Hope

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

According to the late C. A. Bridewell, the first church to put a building in Hope was the "Old School" Presbyterian Church. In his famous account reprinted by the "Star" in the centennial edition of July 26, 1936, it was learned that:

This church was first organized three miles northeast of Hope. On January 1, 1860 the first minister, the Rev. M. J. Wallace began preaching half of his time in the neighborhood at a salary of $400 per year. After a year's time, the success was such that steps were taken to build a house and to apply to the Ouachita Presbytery for organization and a name.

A building 36' x 50' was erected and an application was made to the Presbytery, which appointed the following committee: Rev. S. Williamson, D. D., Rev. M. J. Wallace, and Elder Hon. Edward Cross. On June 8, 1861 the committee proceeded to perform the duty assigned.

Though the church wasn't moved until the spring of 1874, its organization 100 years ago is what local Presbyterians will be celebrating this weekend. The first minister of the Hope Cumberland Presbyterian Church was Rev. Richard E. Lee; the first Elders were Adolphus Anderson and E. K. Williamson. There were 13 charter members.

The church building, for many years located on East 2nd Street, was destroyed by a tornado or a fire (the accounts vary) at one time, but it was rebuilt. During the time the building was down, the Christian Church invited the congregation to use their church when not used by them. Their church was located in the building now occupied by Oakcrest Funeral Home many years.

In January 1954 the First Presbyterian Church of Hope completed the erection of a new home on South Main Street, and Dr. L. T. Lawrence, pastor, that will be the center of activity during the centennial celebration today and tomorrow. Among the distinguished speakers coming from several states are Dr. James A. Millard, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., state clerk and treasurer of the U. S.; Dr. Marion Boggs, Little Rock, immediate past moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.; Dr. Joseph A. Norton M. D., of Little Rock, moderator of the Arkansas Synod of the Presbyterian Church.

Former local pastors taking part in the program will be Dr. Stephen Cook, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Batesville; the Rev. James I. Logan, Jr., pastor of the Forest Hill United Presbyterian Church of Ft. Worth, Tex.; and Dr. Thomas Brewster of San Angelo, Tex., who is retired. Dr. Cook served the Hope church from November 1947 to May 1950; the Rev. Logan, as a seminary student, supplied the Hope church in the summer of 1950; Dr. Brewster, an ordained minister for 42 years, served the Hope church from May 1933 to September 1947.

Three ministers who are natives of Hope will be taking part. They are Dr. John T. Barn of Norman, who was recently retired after 50 years of service to the people in the Arkansas hills; Dr. Stuart R. Oglesby, pastor emeritus of the Central Presbyterian Church in Atlanta, Ga., after serving as pastor there for 20 years; the Rev. Robert L. Hyatt, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Mifflington, Tenn., son of Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, and grandson of C. C. Spragins an elder of the Hope church for 37 years.

Those in charge of planning for the centennial are: Haskell Jones, general chairman; James H. Pilkinton, program chairman; Robert M. Wilson, historical; Mrs. G. B. Hughes, hospitality; Arthur M. Wimlett, publicity; and Dr. L. T. Lawrence, pastor.

The conference accepted committee reports which included opposition to proposed federal aid to any but public schools and which objected to the bond proposal of Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

The conference voted to return to Hot Springs next year.

Bishop W. Kenneth Pope promised action by next year toward getting a Methodist home for the aged in the state.

He said 2,300 dogs were vaccinated, stray dogs were rounded up and mass vaccination of cattle herds is under way.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Hot Springs School Board members listened to Gov. Orval E. Faubus pitch for his $50 million construction bond issue Thursday night, then passed a resolution opposing it.

Board members heard Faubus speak on a statewide radio and television network before they started their meeting. In the resolution, he said passage of the bond issue at an election June 27 could endanger public school funds.

The resolution said from $10,000 to $21,000 of the Hot Springs district's funds would be jeopardized by approval of the bonds. Should that happen, it said, the district would have to ask for a tax increase.

Congress May Take Summer Vacation

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Melody and Steve Kyler of Russellville arrived Friday to visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Kyler.

Miss Carolyn Maxwell left Thursday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. James Maxwell in Pensacola, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lester.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn weeks ago snuffed "nonsense" to the suggestion that Congress take a summer vacation — the idea appeared doomed.

It still may be, but its adherents did nard.

One of them, Rep. Robert R. Barry, R.N.Y., has two children and the belief "that the warmth and support of a family are vital to the efficiency of many congressmen."

Armed with this observation and also the statistics that senators have about 140 school age children and House members more than 600, he appeared Thursday before the House Rules Committee.

His aim: Action on his resolution requiring Congress to recess every year, or at least every other year, from the end of June until early October.

He got no immediate sympathy from the committee, even after saying wives of 175 senators and representatives have signed a petition favoring the summer recess.

Meanwhile, operating on a second front—the Senate—Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., said a Senate resolution proposing annual summer vacations for Congress has been misunderstood.

He urged Congress to adopt a policy of "continuous year-around sessions" with time out for summer vacations, election campaigns and the national political conventions. Such a policy, he said, "will result in less time off, rather than more."

Finally, the committee put off action on Barry's resolution until an indefinite later date. By then, the chances are, summer may have come and gone.

Says Faubus Could Have Used Surplus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An opponent of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $60 million bond proposal said the governor could have used a $15 million dollar cash surplus to relieve urgent needs at State Hospital.

And J. K. Shepherd said Faubus could have done so as long ago last February.

That was the reaction of Shepherd, who heads the organized opposition to the bond proposal, one part of Faubus' Thursday night speech plugging for the plan.

"In listening to the governor's speech," Shepherd said, "I wondered why part of the $15 million available in the treasury of the state was not used to relieve the pressing needs at State Hospital and to provide accommodations for our unfortunate children."

Faubus used the phrase, "pressing needs," in discussing the situation at State Hospital, for which about 20 per cent of the proposed bond issue would be used."

"The governor said work ought to be done at the State Hospital and I agree," Shepherd commented.

"But here we have $15 million in cash available without affecting the revenue stabilization reserve fund that could have been used and used immediately as soon as he could have signed a bill. If that had been done in February, work could have been under way now."

Shepherd said there was no need to "concoct a log-rolling bill such as the omnibus construction act," which was declared unconstitutional by the state Supreme Court last Monday.

"There could have been a single measure dealing with the distressing needs at State Hospital."

Shepherd, a Little Rock insurance executive, is chairman of the Arkansas Committee for the Public Schools, which opposes the bond proposal.

Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, also opposed to the issue, previously had commented that Faubus didn't mention the $15 million surplus.

Rozzell said the governor apparently intended to use the surplus as a bargaining point in return for support of the bond proposal.

Two Sides of the Teen-Age Problem

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My son will be 18 this month. He is celebrating coming of age, if you could call it that, by marrying a 14-year-old girl. The baby is due in August. There's been an off-and-on romance with each dating others—but he says he loves her!

The girl's mother opposes the marriage and is urging her to give the baby up for adoption. My son had only six months more at school but quit to look for a job. Not having graduated from high or been trained in a profession, he can find no work.

Now he wants to bring his bride to our home. I say No! emphatically. We are so-called nice people, respected in our community. So is the girl's family. What chance have my boy and this girl for happiness? —Mrs. C. R.

Dear Mrs. C. R.: Who can prophesy anyone's chances for happiness? That depends upon the individual. Your son and his girl are getting off to a bad start, if they do marry.

The problem should be settled by all concerned talking it over calmly and with as little emotion as possible. Perhaps the baby should be put out for adoption. Perhaps the young couple should be encouraged to develop their love and a home for the baby. But in any event, anger and righteous attitudes should be forgotten.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available.

Kennedy told congressional leaders that Khrushchev predicted to him that Iran would be lost to the West, although disclaiming any Soviet part in it.

In his TV talk Kennedy made it clear he told Khrushchev the United States would not let the Communist world shut off West Berlin, one of the most delicate of all spots in the West-East struggle.

Khrushchev apparently gave him no comfort. And Thursday Russia began stirring up a storm about Berlin, claiming the West German government is building trouble in West Berlin which, although linked to West Germany, lies in East Germany.

Kennedy is 44 now. There is thunder on all his horizons. Communism is cocky, confident, pushing. There's no let-up in sight anywhere. Kennedy has a remarkable head of hair. There should be a lot of gray in it before his first term ends.

Tractors Are Ready for Castro

DETROIT (AP) — The Tractors for Freedom Committee is ready to send Fidel Castro the 500 tractors he asks in exchange for 1,200 invasion prisoners as well as a team of experts to negotiate the deal. The next move is up to him.

The committee cabled the Cuban prime minister Thursday night that "we are prepared to move with dispatch and ship the first consignment of 100 tractors not later than two weeks from today to be followed by additional consignments of tractors in lots of 100 until the total of 500 are delivered."

It cautioned Castro, however, that "we trust you are equally prepared to move with dispatch to release the prisoners. We remind you of our insistence that you make available to us without further delay a complete list of the 1,214 prisoners involved so that we can develop satisfactory procedures for verifying the identity of those released."

"We would recommend that the International Red Cross be asked to handle the details relating to the release of the prisoners."

The proposed trade, which has been controversial, got more criticism meanwhile.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., scored the proposed exchange as "blackmail."

Goldwater, appearing on the Jack Paar television show (NBC) Thursday night, said "a government has to be dealt with by a group of citizens, however well-intentioned."

The committee, formed after Castro made his trade offer May 17, said it would not send one of its more prominent members to Havana to negotiate as Castro had asked but would send a six-member technical committee of agricultural and tractor experts.

It said that if Castro approved of the offer the team of experts would arrive in Havana next Monday. It urged Castro to reply as soon as possible.

Castro had asked that any delegation to Cuba should contain one of the principal members of the committee.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is committee honorary Chairman, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, educator and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is a co-chairman.

Walter P. Reuther, also a co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said none of the prominent members would go.

Named to the technical committee were Prof. Roy Bainer, head of the University of California agricultural engineering department; William Bishop, leader of agricultural programs for the University of Tennessee Extension Service; Duane P. Greathouse, director of the UAW's agricultural implement department; C. M. Hansen, Michigan State University assistant professor of agricultural engineering; J. B. Lilejedahl, Purdue University professor of agricultural engineering, and Prof. E. W. Schroeder, head of the Oklahoma State University agricultural engineering department. They would be accompanied by a Spanish language interpreter.

NAACP Refunds Award Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A reward posted in a bombing case in which two Negro men were arrested was refunded, a leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Thursday.

L. C. Bates, NAACP field representative, said the $216 was returned to contributors after the arrests of Maceo A. Binal Jr., 31, and Herbert Odell Monts, 17, in the bombing at the home of Carlotta Walls, then a Negro student at Central High School.

"It appeared that somebody was made a goat," Bates said.

Both Negroes were convicted, but the state Supreme Court ordered a new trial for Binal and Monts is still appealing.

A $25,000 reward posted in another bombing case in which five white men were convicted has been distributed to 10 persons.

38 Convicts Are Paroled

TRADE - TRADE - TRADE

1. If your present home is too large or too small — TRADE FOR ONE MORE SUITED TO YOUR NEEDS.

2. If you have a property bringing in annual income, like a farm, and prefer monthly income — TRADE.

3. If you have timbered land that is harvested only once in 5 years or more and desire monthly income — TRADE.

4. What ever of value you have can be put up for trade — home, car, boat, furniture, et cetera — SO TRADE.

WHY TRADE?

1. You may need to cash to get what suits you better in another property.

2. You do not have to pay income taxes on trades if handled properly, where you may have to pay capital gains taxes on outright sales.

3. Trading in many cases permits you to own the kind of property you desire where otherwise you could not.

...deep rooted in God's Word ... The Book.
When Sir Walter Scott lay dying — he called for The Book. The servant who best knew his library hesitated and asked,
"Which Book?" Being the writer and reader of many books, Sir Walter said,
"There is only one book for a dying man."
Is it not equally true for a living man?
What book compares in value to aid us in better living? Do you try to find out what is your highest duty? Do you want guidance? Do you cherish peace of mind? Do you seek inspiration?
Do you really want to know what life is for? This man holds The Source ---
The Answer --- The Divine Way.
Day by day let us enrich our minds,
let us seek from the Bible, wisdom, and try to understand God's purpose for us in His World.
See you in church or Synagogue
this week.
